

Salesforce Community Cloud

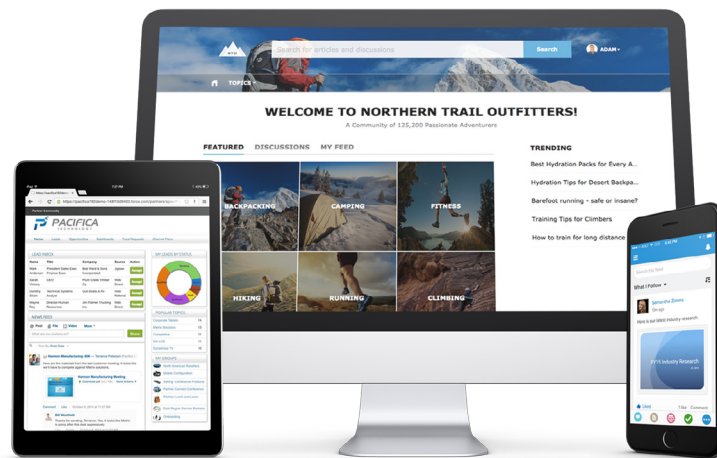

In today's rapidly changing business environment, sustaining engagement and alignment between customers, partners and employees is key to determining lasting success. Resellers and dealers drive revenue growth, agencies empower marketing, and customer satisfaction makes the difference between sustained growth and stagnation.

Now customers are vastly empowered with more information than ever before. Social channels provide a public platform to voice individual opinions, while encouraging more personal interactions with companies—and creating a deeper connection to brands.

These channels also enable customers easily pick and choose between businesses that encourage greater interaction — and those that don't. Customers expect to find answers to their questions, fast. They want to share their experiences of fellow customers, and even work together to solve problems. And if they can't, most know that they have a choice of many other companies that are ready and willing to meet their needs.

The fact is, we're in the midst of an engagement revolution. Organizations that are still trying to connect with customers and partners using rigid portals that don't enable collaboration, or discussion forums that are completely detached from business operations, are quickly falling behind. Modern consumers are frustrated when they encounter these obviously outdated technologies. They're using their newfound power to drive markets in new directions, and they expect companies to keep up.

Salesforce Community Cloud sets a new standard for online community platforms. From sales and marketing through service and distribution, it reimagines each customer touch point and presents an opportunity to build a frictionless, more connected customer experience. Engagement never stops.
